

ATNEWYORK.COM DAILY
"Everything You Need to Do Business in Silicon Alley"

---

Sponsors

---

This newsletter sponsored by: Office.com, Burst.com, Zixit and Job Mob

---

Monday, June 28, 2000

Former White House Staff Secretary Joins Kiodex

Former White House staff secretary Sean Maloney has been named the vice president and general counsel of Kiodex Inc, an online provider of technology-based risk-management solutions for the commodities markets. Maloney will be developing and managing the company's legal, regulatory and communications strategies.

"Kiodex is a revolutionary effort to bring greater fairness and efficiency to a critically important market sector," said Maloney. "I can't imagine a better place in the private sector to apply the legal, regulatory and public policy expertise I gained working for President Clinton."

In his former position Maloney held authority to execute decisions on the President's behalf; oversaw a staff of more than 100 employees and fielded national security information, domestic policy briefing and decision memos, appointments, executive orders and legislation for the President.

"We are extremely lucky to have Sean join the Kiodex management team," said Martin Chavez, chief executive officer of Kiodex. "The experience that Sean gained while at the White House is beyond comparison, making him the ideal leader for Kiodex's legal, regulatory, and communications strategies."